Biography:

Andrew Botieri is founder of Total Peak Performance©, a leasing sales & leadership training & coaching company for the property management industry. Andrew is a published author and featured industry speaker and trainer for over 18 years and works with many apartment associations and property management companies around the country. Andrew has over 37,000 hours of coaching and training within our industry, delivering dynamic leasing, resident retention and management training programs with high energy and humor. His experiences include Regional Director, National Sales Trainer and "turnaround" specialist for HPC Apartment Guides and Vice President of Sales & Operations for AllApartments/SpringStreet. In his spare time, he is President of the Plymouth Library Corporation on a pro bono basis, volunteers as a reading tutor for first graders and plays guitar & sings at restaurants/wine bars in his area. "I am very passionate about training and motivating you and your property management team." - Andrew Botieri
